DETAILED ACTION

Receipt is acknowledged of papers submitted under 35 U.S.C. 119(a)-(d), which papers have been placed of record in the file.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 1,2,5-9,18-20 rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being clearly anticipated by Burkett et al. note that the oven in Burkett et al ahs a variable duty cycle dependent on temperature sensing and comparison to a reference temperature, as claimed. Note use of a keyboard for data entry. AS per claim 2 note use of half cycle control would effect an off period which is fixed, dependent on the input line voltage frequency, which is fixed. AS per claim 5 note use of compensated cook time dependent on cooking progress.

DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 3,10,11,13-16 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Burkett et al in view of Takano et al.

Burkett et al teach the claimed subject matter except for showing the choice of different capacity heating elements dependent on the apparatus temperature difference. The patent to Takano et al is applied for showing use of temperature sensing difference to control the choice of heating elements with varying heating capacities. Note that in Takano et al, as the temperature difference with the set point decreases, the element with less heating capacity would be used, as claimed. This leads to a more efficient use of heating power, and in view of this teaching it would have been obvious to modify the Burkett et al system with the same to make more efficient use of the heating power available.

Claims 4,12,17 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Burkett et al in view of Fernandez. Burkett et al teach the claimed subject matter except for showing use of turn on and off of all heaters in a heating system, if the set point is lower than the sensed temperature and in view of this teaching it would have been obvious to modify Burkett et al with the same, to effect a more balanced use and longevity of the heating elements.

Conclusion

The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. Boldt and Fortune et al are cited for disclosing heating control systems of interest.
